

Free End of Life Care Training

- Do you look after patients/clients and at the end of life?
- Do you support patients/clients and those important to them to start to think about their care as they become less well?
- Do you want to gain more skills and knowledge around end of life care and having those challenging conversations?

Free places are available for those who deliver personalised care across West Yorkshire, including health, social care and VCSE staff and volunteers who need to be able to deliver culturally competent personalised care, taking into account individual needs, preferences and circumstances.

The virtual interactive education sessions will focus on 4 key areas of end of life:

- Supporting personalised and advance care planning discussions at the end of life
- Difficult conversations at the end of life
- Supporting carers to care for patients in last weeks and days of life
- Bereavement and loss (including self care)

Dates and times: (choose only one date and time for each session); you can attend these as standalone sessions or attend all 4 areas:
